DETAILED ACTION

Claim Objections

1. Claims 1-27 are objected to because of the following informalities: The claims have many limitations which do not have spaces between the words of the limitations. Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

2. The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

3. Claims 5,10 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the written description requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to reasonably convey to one skilled in the relevant art that the inventor(s), at the time the application was filed, had possession of the claimed invention. Applicant has not pointed out where the limitation of the claims is supported, nor does there appear to be a written description of the claim limitation.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

4. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

Art Unit: 2645

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

5. Claims 1-27 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being clearly anticipated by Spartz et al. (US 5,878,036).

As to Claims 1,6, with respect to Figures 1 and 6, Spartz teaches a method of reporting an assignment completion (changed service option) in a mobile communication system, comprising:

- transmitting a message type (Col. 14, lines 12-14),
- a channel number representing a communication path being used (Col. 14, lines 18-35),
- encryption information (Col. 15, lines 48-55), and
- contents of the changed service option from a base station/base station controller (BS/BSC) to a mobile switching center after a service re-negotiation procedure is performed between a mobile station and the BS/BSC (Figure 6 and Col. 16, lines 46-65, Col. 17, lines 10-18).

As to Claim 2, Spartz teaches the method of claim 1, wherein the message type, channel number, encryption information and contents of the changed service option are part of an assignment complete message (Col. 17, lines 10-18).

As to Claims 3,8, Spartz teaches the method of claim 1, wherein the contents of the changed service option are transmitted as a service option list, and wherein the service option list comprises a service option list Information Element Identifier (IEI) field for simultaneously supporting at least one or more services, a length field for indicating a length of transmitted information, a number of service options field for indicating a number of services changed as a result of the re-negotiation, a service option Identifier (SOI) field for identifying the changed service, and a service option (i) field for indicating the changed information.

As to Claims 4,9, Spartz teaches the method of claim 3, wherein if the number of the changed service options is one or more, each of the SOI information field and the changed service option field are repeated as many as the number of the changed service options.

As to Claim 7, Spartz teaches the method of Claim 6, wherein the transmissions form subsystem complete messages (a Service Option Report Message) (Col. 15, line 64 through Col. 16, line 6).

As to Claims 11,18,27, with respect to Figures 1 and 6, Spartz teaches a method of reporting a service option changed through a service option re-negotiation between a mobile station and a base station /base station controller in a mobile communication system, comprising:

reporting the changed service option to a mobile switching center using one of an assignment completion message and a service option report message (Col. 17, lines 10-18), wherein each of the assignment completion message and the service option report message includes a service option list field indicating the changed options (Col. 17, lines 1-5).

As to Claims 12,19, Spartz teaches the method of claim 11, wherein if at least one service option is changed while all other services are maintained as a result of the service option re-negotiation, the contents of the service re-negotiation between the mobile station and the base station/base station controller are reported to the mobile switching center using, one of the assignment completion message and the service option report message (Col. 17, lines 10-18).

As to Claim 13, Spartz teaches the method of claim 11, wherein if a portion of services in progress is to be released and a service option of a non-released service is changed as a result of the service option re-negotiation, the changed service option is reported to the mobile switching center using one of the assignment completion message or the service option report message, and a service release procedure is performed with respect to the released service using a service release message and a service release completion message (Col. 15, lines 48-65).

As to Claim 14, Spartz teaches the method of claim 11, wherein if a portion of the services in progress is to be released and non-released services are not to be changed as a result of the service option re-negotiation, a service release procedure is performed with respect to the released service using a service release message and a service release completion message (Col. 16, lines 22-35).

As to Claim 15, Spartz teaches the method of claim 11, wherein if all services in progress are to be released as a result of the service option re-negotiation, a call release procedure among the mobile station, base station /base station controller, and mobile switching center is performed (Col. 17, lines 1-10).

Art Unit: 2645

As to Claims 16,21,24, Spartz teaches the method of claim 11, wherein the service option list field comprises:

- an assignment request (service option list Information Element Identifier (IEI)), to identify services provided;

- a time slot (length field), to a length of transmitted information;

- a channel type (number of service options field), to indicate the number of services changed as a result of negotiation,

- a service request (service connection identifier (SOCi) field), to identify the changed service; and

- a variable rate transmission (service option field), to indicate the corresponding service information (Col. 16, lines 40-65).

As to Claims 17,22,26, Spartz teaches the method of claim 16, wherein if the number of the change is one or more, each of the SOCi information field and the changed service option field are repeated as many as the number of the changed service options (Col. 16, lines 30-39).

As to Claim 20, Spartz teaches the method of claim 19, wherein the assignment complete message further comprises a channel number field, and encryption information field, and a service option field (Col. 15, lines 25-29,41-47 and Col. 16, lines 30-32).

As to Claim 23, Spartz teaches the method of claim 19, wherein the service option report message contains no additional fields (Col. 16, lines 32-42).

Art Unit: 2645

As to Claim 25, Spartz teaches the message of claim 24, wherein the service option list (IEI) permits the communications system to simultaneously support at least two services (Col. 16, lines 42-46).
